THE SEVEN PRINCIPLES OF PUBLIC LIFE

Selflessness

Holders of public office should take decisions solely in terms of the public interest. They should not do so in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, or their friends

Integrity

Holders of public office should not place themselves under any financial or other obligation to outside individuals or organisations that might influence them in the performance of their official duties.

Objectivity

In carrying out public business, including making public appointments, awarding contracts, or recommending individuals for rewards and benefits, holders of public office should make choices on merit.

Accountability

Holders of public office are accountable for their decisions and actions to the public and must submit themselves to whatever scrutiny is appropriate to their office.

Openness

Holders of public office should be as open as possible about all the decisions and actions that they take. They should give reasons for their decisions and restrict information only when the wider public interest clearly demands.

Honesty

Holders of public office have a duty to declare any private interests relating to their public duties and to take steps to resolve any conflicts arising in a way that protects the public interest.

Leadership

Holders of public office should promote and support these principles by leadership and example.

6.	In its dealings with individuals, the College will adhere to the principles of natural Justice and fundamental British Values.
7.	The College will seek to encourage a culture of openness aimed at ensuring that matters connected with the operation of the College can be discussed frankly with staff and students. 3. Corporation and Governors

1.	The Code of Conduct for Governors is consistent with the principles laid down by the Nolan Committee and the requirements of its Instrument and Articles of Government.
2.	The Corporation will seek to ensure that its members are appointed on merit, after an open selection process, and are drawn widely from the communities it serves, having regard to the need for continuity and freshness, and for a range of skills and interests.
3.	The Corporation is responsible for determining the educational character and mission of the College and for oversight of its activities; for approving the quality strategy; for the effective and efficient use of resources, the solvency of the College, and safeguarding its assets; for approving annual estimates of income and expenditure; and for setting a framework or determining the pay and conditions of service of staff, in accordance with the Articles of Government.
4.	The Corporation will adopt policies and regulations which ensure sound financial decision making, control and monitoring to meet the requirements of the funding bodies and audit.
5.	A Governor should in all his or her work for the College exercise such skill as he or she possesses and such care and diligence as would be expected from a reasonable person in the circumstances.

4. Staff

1.	Where the College includes confidentiality clauses in severance contracts, this will not prevent staff who have legitimate concerns about malpractice raising those concerns with the appropriate authority.
2.	As Chief Accounting Officer for the College, the Principal will be responsible for the propriety of financial decision making, and will advise the Corporation of any requirements in respect of matters before it.

5. Educational partners

1.	The College will compete vigorously but honestly with other education institutions offering similar learning opportunities.
2.	The College will seek to avoid damaging the reputation of competitors either directly or by innuendo.

3.	The College will provide information on individual students to the Careers Service and other institutions engaged in providing for the learning needs of the student in accordance with agreed procedures, within Data Protection Act guidelines.

3.	The College will provide timely and accurate information on individual students to employers or others providing sponsorship.

7. Gifts, Gratuities and Hospitality [See also section 17 of the Financial Regulations]

1.	Staff should take care not to be influenced (nor give the impression of being influenced) by the offer of any gift, favour or hospitality when engaged on College business.
2.	Any gifts (ie items of value other than monetary payments), rewards or benefits offered (either directly or indirectly) by students, the public or on behalf of other organisations in connection with the work of the College must be refused, except for small gifts as defined in SCUC's Financial Regulations.
3.	Gratuities or inducements should not be accepted or solicited under any circumstances. Gratuities are monetary payments other than fees.
4.	Staff should exercise discretion in accepting and offering hospitality. It may be acceptable provided that there is no extravagance; it is occasional; and does not unfairly influence decisions on, for example, placing orders or contracts. The Principal may from time to time issue specific policies in connection with hospitality.
5.	Staff should not offer or give to anyone any gifts, rewards, improper benefits or inducements in connection with the work of the College or seek in any way to encourage anyone to carry out their functions or activities improperly except for small gifts properly authorised by a senior manager.

8. Publication and Public Interest Disclosure

1.	The College will ensure that its codes are published and are available on request. Advice on the codes may be obtained from the Director of Corporate Governance, Risk and Compliance.

2.	In line with best practice and to meet the requirements of the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998, a Whistleblowing Policy has been adopted in consultation with the recognised trade unions. A copy is available from the Director of Corporate Governance, Risk and Compliance.
3.	Public service values are at the heart of the further education service. High standards of personal and corporate conduct, based on the principles set out in SCUC's Code of Ethics should underpin all decisions taken.

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR STAFF

9. Principles and General Conduct

1.	The College Code of Conduct for staff is based on similar principles to that for governors and on the principles in its Code of Ethics.
2.	All its employees will be required to adhere to the SCUC's code of conduct for staff.
3.	The Code of Conduct for Staff will forbid employees from soliciting or accepting inducements in respect of any matter connected with the operation of the College.
4.	The Code of Conduct applies to all staff employed by Solihull College. Staff should be aware that breaching the Code of Conduct could amount to a breach of their employment contract or even, in some instances, a criminal offence. Therefore, if there is any difficulty in complying with the Code, the member of staff should discuss the matter promptly with his or her manager, the Director of Corporate Governance, Risk and Compliance, or the Principal.
5.	SCUC expects high standards of integrity from every member of staff in carrying out his/her responsibilities.
6.	Staff should treat each other courteously and with respect and should not bring the College into disrepute or behave in a way, inside or outside of the College which may jeopardise the College's reputation or position.
7.	Staff should have regard in their work for the principles set out in SCUC's Code of Ethics (including the seven principles of public life formulated by the Nolan committee on standards in public life). Both this code and the code of ethics should be read in conjunction with individual contracts of employment and with the whole range of statutory requirements which apply to SCUC's operations. Everyone should be familiar with the policy statement for health and safety at work and with the code of practice for equal opportunities.
8.	All staff have a duty to work towards the aims and objectives of the College and to implement promptly and efficiently the decisions taken by the Corporation or on its behalf. Staff: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• should discharge their responsibilities honestly, effectively, with integrity and to the best of their ability, using due care and the skills related to their particular job.• are responsible and accountable for their own actions and for action taken under their direction by others.• should comply with SCUC's financial regulations and ensure the efficient use of any resources (including materials and equipment) over which they have influence or control. Managers should ensure that their staff comply with the regulations and use resources efficiently.• should make available the information necessary to enable colleagues and committees to fulfil their responsibilities to high standards•

10. Students

1.	Students should always be treated courteously and with respect.
2.	Members of staff should maintain a professional relationship with students. Friendship between a member of the teaching staff and a particular student may affect impartial judgement of his/her work, or be seen to affect judgement and lead to accusations of favouritism.

3.	Sexual relationships between staff and students pose particular difficulties. In the case of students under eighteen years of age, such relationships are unacceptable and would be deemed to constitute gross misconduct.
4.	Mature students could also be seen to be vulnerable in a college setting and, to avoid claims of harassment and/or abuse of power, relationships should be deferred until the student is no longer part of the College. The Office for Students, as a condition of Registration, place a ban (with exceptions) on intimate relationships between staff and HE students. The exceptions are where there is an ongoing relationship that existed before August 2025; and relationships that existed before the staff member became a 'relevant staff member' to the student (i.e. the staff member becomes in a position to influence favourable or detrimental treatment to the student). If a member of staff has concerns about the implications of this aspect of the code, for instance where there is an existing relationship with a prospective student, they should advise their line manager to avoid a potential conflict of interest. (Please see Section 12.4)
5.	This section should be read in conjunction with the College's Safeguarding Young People and Vulnerable Adults Policy. Members of staff should also familiarise themselves with SCUC's guidelines on e-communications, which makes specific reference to social media contact with students.

11. Other Employment and Fees

1.	During working hours, all staff are required to devote all their time, attention and abilities to their duties. It is not permissible to hold any other paid post, office, engagement or employment which would conflict with the performance of an employee's duties or SCUC's interests or be detrimental to the College. Full-time staff should not undertake any other paid employment without the consent of the Principal. This agreement should be sought by writing to the Human Resources Manager. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Activities related to any engagement or employment outside the College should not be undertaken in the workplace or in working hours. The use of College facilities (including telephones, IT services and equipment) is restricted to work for the College. ○ Fees should not be accepted from other bodies for work or services undertaken in the course of performing College duties, except that the Principal may authorise amounts of up to £50 on prior application in writing. Reasonable expenses may be accepted within the limits of the costs actually incurred, but no claim should be made to the College. Any other amounts payable for fees or expenses should be paid to the College finance office at the earliest opportunity.

Consider whether members of the public, knowing such information, could reasonably conclude that the relevant interest might influence a judgement.

3.	If a member of staff is related to a contractor engaged by the College or has any pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, in connection with any supplier, contract, proposed contract or other matter, he/she must notify the in writing of the potential conflict of interest and take no part in the matter. Information gained in the course of work must not be used for personal gain or to the advantage of relatives or friends.
4.	Where there is a personal relationship between a member of staff and a student, the member of staff should inform his/her manager and make arrangements to ensure that there is no conflict of interest, bias nor unfairness. Alternative arrangements should be considered for assessment, tutorials and meeting the student's learning needs.
5.	Where there is a personal relationship between a member of staff and an applicant for an appointment at the College, the relationship should be disclosed to the Human Resources Manager. The member of staff should not have any part in making the appointment.
6.	The register of staff interests will be open for public inspection
7.	Individuals are in the best position to decide what interests are relevant and should be disclosed. However, the following table contains general guidance as to what might be relevant for disclosure.

They should not allow any conflict of interest to arise which might interfere with the exercise of their independent judgement.
2.	Under SCUC's Instrument of Government Governors must not take or hold any interest in any of SCUC's properties or receive any remuneration for their services (save as a member of SCUC's staff) without the written approval of the Secretary of State for Education and Employment.
